After an altercation between the Dutch and the Khoi the valley was renamed to symbolise the new found peace.

Bakkeley plaats

Vredensdaal

Means: Valley of Peace

Vredendal is recognised as one of South Africa's ideal regions for wine production and is host to the largest wine cellar, namely Namaqua Wines.

Vredendal is also well represented with some great smaller boutique wineries and dried fruit businesses.

The town's economy is based on agriculture and mining.
